Lecturer/Deaf Interpreter/Advocate

Lisa Furr considers herself a native of Tucson, Arizona since she has lived there most of her life. Currently, she is a lecturer teaching American Sign Language and Deaf Studies classes at the University of Arizona and she also works as a Deaf interpreter. She holds a Master's degree in Organizational Management from the University of Phoenix and a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration with a minor in Entrepreneurial Studies from Gallaudet University. Lisa has enjoyed volunteering for a wide array of organizations. She held various positions with National Association of the Deaf including the LGBTQ section, Arizona Association of the Deaf, Rainbow Alliance of the Deaf (President/Past President 2001-2005), Deaf Women United and more. She also provided parliamentary procedure consultation. She is a strong advocate who works to improve the quality of life for deaf and hard of hearing people. During Lisa's leisure, she and her wife, Heather, enjoy hiking, traveling, snorkeling, and exploring different cultures globally. They love spending time with their pets.
